Brushstrokes is an award-winning project in partnership with Father Hudson's Care, The Infant Jesus Sisters and the parish of St Philip Neri, Smethwick. The project is well established with a proven track record in supporting refugees, asylum seekers and migrants in Sandwell and surrounding areas.

We require a Digital Skills Advisor to work alongside service users to increase their digital skills and enable them to progress into employment, education and training. You will also support them to make use of online platforms to increase their access to government and local services.

Funded by the National Lottery you will develop and deliver group and 1-1 sessions, support clients to access online training and accredited courses, build relationships with other digital skills providers and network with other organisations for referrals.

With experience in providing IT support for this client group (in particular those who have English as a second language), you will have excellent communication skills, be organised with the ability to develop lesson plans and undertake assessments. You will have the ability to work with people from differing social and cultural backgrounds, be flexible and committed to our ethos of welcoming the stranger.
